- How often do you deal with DWI experts? A. I successfully have worked with DWI / defense forensic science experts for hundreds of DWI cases. This has excellently broadened my knowledge of the essential DWI science.

- What is your level of trial experience and ability? A. I have successfully taken hundreds of cases to trial, winning numerous of them, and sometimes getting very good deals only after trial begins. My great trial skills and ability comes not only from trying so many cases, but through training and practice with some of the nation's best criminal defense and trial lawyers, including through the National Criminal Defense College, Trial Lawyers College, trial consultants, and numerous gatherings during the years with Trial Lawyers College alums.

- Have you attended the two-week National Criminal Defense College Trial Practice Institute, the multi-week Trial Lawyers College, or their equivalent? A. Yes.

- Are you a member of the National Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers and Virginia Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers? A. I have belonged to both for many years.

- What is your relevant experience and knowledge level defending DWI defendants with security clearances? A. I have consulted at least around two dozen times with a security clearance lawyer for my clients with DWI cases. I am able to enunciate to prosecutors and judges about my client's security clearance risks from active jail time.

- Why do you do this work? A. My zeal for battling for criminal defendants goes as far back as the age of ten, when a fourth grade teacher – not even my teacher – stopped me in the hall, and interrogated: "Why were you playing last Wednesday at the apartments across the street?" I asked why she was accusing me. "Because someone reported a brown-haired boy in a blue coat doing that." I replied: "You have just described half the boys in the school. Have a nice day." I then walked away from this teacher possibly stunned by my firm mouth of reason. She never crossed my path again. My zeal for criminal defense continues unabated.

You will be in good hands with me.
